

Dear,

as you may know we are organizing the IABR Breath summit 2022 in Pisa next June 12-15, 2022, which will be an important opportunity to meet colleagues and friends of our lively breath research community. We choose June, because although the Covid-19 pandemic has largely impacted everyone's life, even last year it was possible to travel safely during this warm month. Even though the spreading of the omicron variant is still rising concerns, the success of the vaccination campaigns put in place in many countries and the upcoming pharmaceutical treatments give us hope of a slow return to normal life. On behalf of the organizing committee, I'm taking this opportunity to:

- remind everyone in the breath research community about the IABR Breath summit 2022,
- extend the warmest of invitations to visit our website and join us,
- invite you to send abstracts at your earliest convenience (deadline for orals March 14th, 2022),
- make sure that everyone knows about the discounts we have secured for early booking
- and to encourage you to register and take advantage of them

With your contribution, the organizing committee will make every possible effort for you to enjoy an exciting scientific event in person and extend your network of collaborations in the beautiful city of Pisa. Thanks to the contributions of our sponsors, we will hold the summit safely, efficiently and at moderate cost (in particular for junior researchers).

Please note that:

- June is very high season in Pisa, please make sure you book your accommodation well in advance (ideally now). We provide a provisional list of hotels and apartments that you can book at a discounted price and that have a friendly cancellation policy (state that you will attend the Breath Summit and mention the code breath22).
- The charming Luminaria will be on June 16th. On this day, a social trip to Florence will be organized followed by the Luminaria in the evening in Pisa. I promise you won't regret staying one more day!

Please share the information below with your partners and associates.

Remember to register and pay before April 30, 2022 to take advantage of early bird rate.

Looking forward to meet you in Pisa

Fabio Di Francesco
